Provenance: Audra Adomenas, professional librarian and archivist (MLIS Dominican University 2005) rescued the partial library holdings of the Lithuanian Marian Fathers in Chicago after the Lithuanian Marian Fathers had vacated the building and it was in the process of being reappropriated for use from a monastery to a retreat center. In August 2009, the Hispanic Marriage encounter group was handed over the monastery that was full of Lithuanian-language materials that they could neither read nor have any use for since the last of the Lithuanian Marians were either in nursing homes on the East Coast or deceased. A concerned member of the Hispanic community requested that Audra, as a professional librarian who speaks and writes the Lithuanian language fluently, come to take a look at the materials. As Audra arrived on site, the process of emptying the contents left behind in the monastery were being dumped in large dumpsters in preparation of getting the building cleaned up and ready for their own group's use. Audra expresses gratitude to members of the Hispanic community for alerting her, as they were overwhelmed by finding a building that was turned over for their use but full of materials which were useless to them. Had it not been for concerned members of the Mexican-American community the materials would have been lost to the trash heap. A ten-year-old girl, Karen Contreras, asked her father to take action because she, a lover of books, was saddened by children playing in piles of books and children drawing in them. After Audra received the call from little Karen's father, she came on site and recognized that the materials were in the Lithuanian language and were of enormous historical significance to the Lithuanian community. Audra and four volunteers worked to salvage what they could. Afterwards, Audra's family rented a climate-controlled storage locker on Chicago's North side where the materials were transported in the boxes and rented truck. The contents of the boxes are the living legacy of the Chicago Lithuanian Marians, and Audra felt compelled and spiritually obligated to make sure they are not lost to posterity. Fortunately, her professional background allowed her to do more than wishful thinking. The Lithuanian Archives Project (LAP), a not-for-profit organization in the State of Illinois has been preserving the partial library holdings of the Lithuanian Marian Fathers since 2009. LAP also has a partnership with Audra's alma mater, Dominican University, and their MLIS students specializing in archival studies. Audra's Father, Professor Antanas J. Van Reenan (now retired) was very close to Rev. Dr. Vytautas Bagdonavicius, MIC (now deceased), a Lithuanian Marian who lived for many years at the site where the books were discarded. Indeed, some of the interviews which Prof. Van Reenan used for his doctoral dissertation at the University of Chicago on the Lithuanian Diaspora also took place at the same monastery through the 1970's and 1980's. Audra recalls visiting the monastery as a girl while her father conducted his research there, and feels that it is her debt to her Lithuanian heritage to be of assistance to the Marian Fathers in completing their new directive from Rome -- namely, to preserve their archives.

Biographical Sketch

The Marians of the Immaculate Conception (MIC), formally titled The Congregation of the Marian Clerics Regular under the title of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, is a Roman Catholic congregation founded by St. Stanislaus Papczynski in Poland in 1673. After being persecuted by Russian authorities, the congregation was reduced to just one member. The Marians were saved from extinction by Blessed Jurgis Matulaitis-Matulevičius, who renovated and refounded the order in 1910. The Marian Fathers currently operate in nineteen countries on six continents. The Marian Fathers came to the United States in 1913 and established themselves on Chicago's south side. They took over the publication of Draugas in 1920, the same year they also began publishing Laivas. Between 1924 and 1955, the Marian Fathers established a novitiate, high school, college, and seminary. They also sent a missionary band to Argentina. The St. Casimir Province was established in Chicago in 1930. The Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of Mercy Province was established in 2006 in Stockbridge, Massachusetts as a result of the unification between Chicago's St. Casimir Province and Stockbridge's St. Stanislaus Kostka Province. As of 2016, there is only one Marian province in the United States that has no formal associations with the Lithuanian language.

Series 17: Lithuanians in the Diaspora

This series contains three boxes of printed books and pamphlets that relate to the Lithuanian community and are secular in nature that were published primarily in Lithuania, Argentina and the United States. This series also contains content relating to the Marian Brothers in the diaspora, including religious printed books and pamphlets, published in Lithuania, Argentina and the United States. Unique and/or handwritten diaries and journals were sorted by series according to their creator, if known. If not known, the handwritten sources whose author was not able to be determined can be found in series 24. This series also includes an original architectural survey drawing of Carolyn Hall on the Norman B. Ream Estate in Thompson, Connecticut. The first name given to the new religious house was "Mariampolis"; the educational institution was called both "College Marianorum" and St. Mary's College, purchased in 1931 to fulfill the Marian Fathers' desire to purchase a site suitable for establishing a school for boys on the East Coast.

Series 18: Serials

This series contains ten boxes of serials printed by the Lithuanian community in the diaspora as well as various international academic and religious journals. This series includes various serials published by Lithuanians while in displaced persons (DP camps).

Series 19: Books (1800's - 1930's)

This series contains approximately fifteen boxes of printed books and pamphlets in Lithuanian, English, German, Italian, Spanish, French, Latin, Russian, Polish, Hebrew, Ancient Greek, Irish, Portuguese, Belarusian, Ukrainian. The earliest of the books are bound in vellum. The printed history of the Lithuanian language is exhibited by the wide variety of printing press characters used in various time periods and countries in order to write the Lithuanian alphabet.

Series 20: Books (1940's - present)

This series contains twenty-eight boxes of printed books and pamphlets in Lithuanian, English, German, Italian, Spanish, French, Latin, Russian, Polish, Hebrew, Ancient Greek, Irish, Portuguese, Belarusian, Ukrainian. Of the twenty boxes, this series includes approximately seven boxes of books published by Lithuanians while in displaced persons (DP camps).

Series 21: Sheet Music, Loose and Bound

This series contains two boxes of religious, classical and traditional Lithuanian folk songs in loose and bound form.

Series 22: Prayer Books

This series contains approximately two boxes of prayer books. Note: not all prayer books are included in this series--some are found in boxes containing series 19 and 20.

Series 23: Newspaper Clippings

This series contains one box of newspaper clippings from Chicago and Buenos Aires that highlight the Marians' activities in the diaspora.

Series 24: Miscellaneous

This series contains one box of handwritten and other personal papers that have no identifiable author.

Series 25: Audiovisual Materials

This series contains one box of slides, photographic negatives, magnetic tape reels, cassette tapes among other audiovisual materials.

Series 26: Rev. Anthony M. Švedas

Note: this series contains one original wooden World War II-era U.S. Army footlocker, approximately two linear feet in length. This series is described in a separate finding aid, entitled Rev. Anthony M. Švedas finding aid. This series contains numerous handwritten accounts of Rev. Švedas' experience as U.S. Army chaplain during World War II. Rev. Anthony M. Švedas was born on August 13, 1909. Švedas studied philosophy in Montreal, Canada and later theology in Rome, where he was ordained to the Marian priesthood in 1934. The following year, Švedas taught at Marianapolis Preparatory School in Thompson, Connecticut and did so for four years. He later became Novice master at the Marian Hills House. During World War II, the government required ten percent of every religious congregation to serve as military chaplains. In 1942, Švedas was the first Marian priest of his order to volunteer. He became the Army chaplain of task force 8408 and also of the 21st infantry regiment, 24th division. As a chaplain Švedas participated in several campaigns including Guadalcanal, Midanao, Bougainville, New Caledonia, and Solomon Islands. Švedas was also charter member and chaplain of the Don Varnas American Legion post since its founding in 1945 in Illinois. After eight years as an Army chaplain, Švedas served for two years as pastor and Superior of Our Lady of Vilna Catholic Church a Lithuanian parish in Chicago (23rd St. and Oakley Ave.). He later served as a chaplain in Alaska for a few years. Švedas was transferred to Argentina in 1960 where he spent the remainder of his life in Rosario holding many offices such as Superior and Novice Master. He died on November 21, 1993 at 84 years old in Rosario after celebrating 59 years in the priesthood.
